PTSD DUAL DIAGNOSIS DEFINED

- PTSD symptoms are common among military and veterans who are self medicating, and have a diagnosed psychiatric disorder. These individuals are classified as dual diagnosis.
- With a PTSD diagnosis, prompt treatment allows for recovery to begin - time is of the essence.
- Removing the risk of suicide is our number one priority.

TREATMENT PHILOSOPHY

We at CCC complement the efforts of the VA whenever treating those who have served these United States of America. We are immensely proud each time we are permitted to assist in the recovery of one of our heroes.
